TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

It gives me immense pleasure to write about Dr. Shamila Manzoor who has been working in the Department of Anaesthesia of this hospital since February 2002.

Combined Military Hospital, Muzaffarabad, officially has 260 beds but up to 350 patients are accommodated every day. This Hospital provides secondary and some tertiary care facilities to a civilian population of about 1.2 Million in addition to Armed forces personal. This Hospital has about 120 surgical beds. This hospital is recognized for under and postgraduate Training of nurses, houses job of doctors, FCPS part-II training in General Medicine & Surgery, as well as by Agha Khan University Hospital for training of their FCPS-II students in community surgery.

Surgical and Anaesthetic divisions of this hospital are very busy and on average about 100 major and 600 minor operations are performed every month. This hospital has four major Operation Theaters, which are fully equipped with Anaesthesia Machines and other necessary equipments, In addition, Image Intensifier system, GI endoscopies, urology as well as neurosurgical facilities are provided in the operating rooms

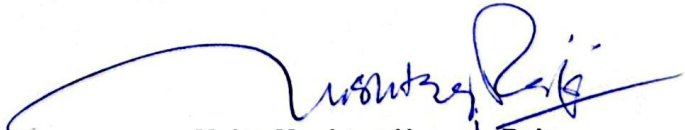

Dr. Shamila Manzoor has worked in the Anaesthesia department as a full time resident Anaesthetist since February 2002 up to 10th June 2003. She has gained as extensive and wide ranging experience in the administration of general Anaesthesia, spinal, epidural, as well as local Anaesthesia. She is fully trained to Anaesthetise different types of patients of all ages from new born to 90years, under going general surgery. She is also acquainted towards the use of ventilators, diathermies, operation lights etc. In short from our point of view, she could be considered as a safe Anaesthetist. She also been trained to administer Anaesthesia to all types of injured patients, particularly, war victims which is a very important and big group of patients in this hospital.

She has impressed me with her keen interest and hard work. She is dedicated to her studies and work. As a resident I have found her very diligent, co-operative and responsible. She performs her job with utmost dedication. She has good working relations with the junior staff and her colleagues. She has good basic knowledge, bedside manners and has been kind to her patients.

I wish her success in her career.
